Resignation of Circuit Judge Forged, Charge

DISCOVERY MADE
ON WALKER VISIT TO SOUTH GEORGIA

Judge Dickerson, of Homerville, Wires Governor Denial of His Purported Resignation.

INVESTIGATION MADE BY VALDOSTA OFFICE

Letter Alleged Dickerson Recommended Solicitor Lovett as His Successor on Bench.

A letter addressed to Governor Walker, announcing the resignation of Judge R. G. Dickerson, of the Alabama circuit, has been pronounced by the judge to be a forgery. The letter was received last Wednesday afternoon and there was nothing on its face to indicate that it was not genuine.

When Judge Dickerson, who is on a short vacation in Hot Springs, Ark., was wired for confirmation, he replied that he had never written any such letter.

The letter in question was received shortly before the governor left Atlanta for a speaking tour in south Georgia. According to Matt Bennett, secretary to the governor, it was written in an apparently educated hand, in ink, on ordinary writing paper. The postmark was Valdosta, Ga.

The letter contained, in addition to the resignation, a recommendation that Governor Walker appoint J. D. Lovett, solicitor general of the Alabama circuit, to fill the unexpired term.

Friends Are Astonished.

According to Secretary Bennett, the governor decided to take up the matter of the purported resignation while in south Georgia. When he mentioned the matter to friends of Judge Dickerson in Nashville, Ga., they expressed the utmost astonishment at the resignation. Wiring Judge Dickerson for confirmation, he replied by denying that he had ever written such a letter.

The governor thereupon telephoned to Secretary Bennett, asking that he forward the letter to him. This was done and it is now understood the governor has turned the letter over to authorities at Valdosta for investigation.

Various surmises were made at the capital Tuesday as to the reason for such a forgery. Among them was that enemies of Solicitor Lovett might have written the letter for the purpose of discrediting him, as it is considered unusual for a retiring judge to make any suggestions to the governor as to who shall succeed him.

Veil of Secrecy
Guards Tickets
For Convention

Democrats in New York Planning To Foil Speculators.

New York, May 20.—Exceptional precautions are being taken to prevent the counterfeiting of tickets for the democratic national convention, and similar efforts are being made to prevent the tickets from falling into the hands of speculators.

The demand has become so great that the incentive to counterfeiting has increased tremendously, and the precautionary measures have increased in proportion.

Contributors to the fund which brought the convention to New York and which will provide entertainment for the delegates and other visitors during the convention, will be entitled to one ticket for each $100 contributed. The tickets will be issued to the contributors personally, and should they be lost they will be of value to no one else.

Tickets to the delegates and alternates will be given out by the sergeant-at-arms of the convention beginning Sunday, June 24. A representative of the sergeant-at-arms will call upon each delegate at his hotel and deliver the tickets individually.

To prevent favoritism in the matter of issuing tickets to convention fund contributors, each contributor will be given a number and these numbers will be drawn by a committee. The first members drawn will have the choicest seats.

2 Precious Paintings Found
In Driving Club Ante-Room

ARTISTS DISCOVER THEM UPON CHANCE VISIT

BY RALPH T. JONES.

Hanging on the walls of an ante-room at the Piedmont Driving club there have been for years two oil paintings. How long they have been there, apparently no one in Atlanta can accurately state. At any rate, they have been neglected and forgotten as of little value.

Two of the famous artists in Atlanta for the art exhibition of the Grand Central Galleries, now on display at Biltmore hotel, were taken Tuesday afternoon to the Piedmont Driving club by some of their local hosts. The two were John C. Johansen and Ivan G. Olinsky. They passed through the ante-room and the pictures caught their eye. Mr. Johansen paused and looked again. He whispered excitedly with Mr. Olinsky. Then they asked for chairs or a ladder and climbed so as to get a closer view.

Paintings Dust Covered.

The pictures were grimy and dust covered. Carefully the artists rubbed away a little of the dust in the corner of the first, a landscape. Then dimly a name and a date appeared and soon they deciphered it. "Theodore Robinson, '92," it read.

Theodore Robinson, one of the great American landscape painters, has been dead 15 or 20 years. He was not a prolific painter and left comparatively few examples of his genius. Those that are known, however, are held in highest esteem and the price placed upon them is relatively high.

DATE OF PRIMARY
PROVOKES FIGHT

Several Hundred School Teachers Enter Protest Against Proposal To Have Summer Primary.

Protesting that a summer primary election would disenfranchise several thousand Atlanta voters who will be out of the city during the summer, a number of local civic organizations were reported Tuesday night to be preparing to wage a spirited fight for a September primary when the city democratic executive committee meets at noon today in the city hall to fix the date.

Resolutions were adopted by the Atlanta Teachers' association, Girls' High Parent-Teacher association, Hoke Smith Junior High Parent-Teacher association Tuesday night urging a September date for the primary and representatives of the organizations were authorized to present the resolutions to the city democratic executive committee today.

The Atlanta League of Women Voters, the Atlanta Federation of Trades and other organizations announced through their officers Tuesday night that they would send delegations to urge the committee to reject the proposal for a September primary.

Mr. Sanford Gay, president, is to head the league delegation; Jerome Jones is to be spokesman for the labor body's delegation.

Advocates of the summer primary are said to contend that the voters should dispose of local political issues before the state and national campaigns begin.

Advocates of setting the date in September, the usual date, declared Tuesday night that a campaign during the hot months is a hardship on candidates and on voters who take an active interest in public affairs, that many people, including nearly 1,000 school teachers who are required to do summer school work to improve their fitness for teaching, are out of the city during the summer and would be seriously inconvenienced or actually disenfranchised, and that the issues of a summer campaign are apt

4,000 Political
Plums Created
Under Bonus Law

Several Months Will Be Required To Print Insurance Certificates.

Washington, May 20.—More than 4,000 new jobs will be created to handle the volume of work caused by the soldier bonus. The civil service commission reported Tuesday that 4,152 additional employees would be needed as follows: War department, 3,300; navy, 443; veterans' bureau, 400. Except in the veterans' bureau, the jobs will be temporary. Enough applications are on file with the commission to fill the jobs.

Bureau of engraving officials estimate it will require two to three months to print the 4,000,000 insurance certificates required by the bonus act. The certificates will be engraved and will resemble the ordinary insurance policy in physical appearance. Several designs have been submitted to General Hines, director of the veterans' bureau.

DECISION REACHED ON FORM OF TAX
BILL IN CONGRESS

Formal Ratification of Basis of Agreement, Drafted by Conferees, Is Expected Today.

PRESIDENT WILL SIGN
COMPROMISE MEASURE

Proposed Bill Provides for Surtax Rate, With Maximum at 38 Per Cent on $200,000.

BY THOMAS L. STOKES.

Washington, May 20.—After several days of bargaining, conferees from the house and senate practically have agreed on the final form of the tax bill, and the compromise measure they have drafted will be approved by President Coolidge in the opinion of those who have sounded out his views.

Following an all-day session Tuesday, it was announced that the conferees had reached a basis of agreement, and that it likely would be formally ratified Wednesday. These are the compromises which have been made, it is understood:

Compromises Reached.

1. Normal rates will be those in the senate bill, 2 per cent on incomes up to $4,000, 4 per cent on incomes up to $8,000 and 6 per cent above. The house bill provided 5 per cent between $4,000 and $8,000.

2. A compromise on surtax rates, with the maximum at 38 per cent on $200,000. The house bill had 37 1/2 per cent maximum at $200,000, while the senate maximum was 40 per cent at $500,000. The senate rate, however, was 38 per cent at $200,000 and the senate surtax schedule up to that point will be accepted, it is understood, as it provides a unit raise, instead of a fractional scale as in the house bill.

3. The Norris amendment making income tax returns public to be stricken out, though the Jones amendment to the senate bill requiring publicity in hearings of contested cases expected to be retained. The house provision opening tax returns to congressional committees under certain restrictions to remain in the bill.

4. The Jones graduated corporation tax killed, in favor of the flat rate of 12 1/2 per cent, with $1 per $10,000 on capital stock, in the house bill.

5. The senate inheritance tax, scaling up to 36 per cent on $5,000,000 and over, to give way to the house estate tax, graduating to 40 per cent on $10,000,000.

Agreeable to Coolidge.

This compromise measure, it was predicted in the senate Tuesday, will be approved by the president. It abolishes two provisions in the senate measure especially onerous to Coolidge, the publicity amendment

General Methodist Conference Called
On Church MergerEVIDENCE CLEARS
SENATOR WHEELER,
DECLARES BORAH

Republican Asserts the Only Way To Convict Him Is To "Presume Him Guilty."

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.

Washington, May 20.—A review of the evidence covering the circumstances under which Senator Wheeler, democrat, Montana, was indicted in his home state on a charge of taking a fee for representing a claimant before the interior department, was given the senate today by Senator Borah, republican, Idaho, as chairman of the special committee which investigated the matter. "The only way Senator Wheeler could be found guilty," Senator Borah said, "is to presume him guilty and to presume every witness who testified about his law contract to be a perjurer."

Senator Borah's remarks were aimed at the minority report brought Senator Sterling, republican, South Dakota, from the committee to the senate by which he disagreed with his four associates in their majority conclusion that Senator Wheeler was guilty "in spirit and letter of the law" of the charge brought against him. Senator Sterling interrupted Senator Borah once or twice, during his review of the committee evidence, but said he would wait until tomorrow before entering his response.

"Attempt at Blackmail."

Senator Glass, democrat, Virginia, also broke into the discussion once to declare that the indictment represented an "attempt by the department of justice to blackmail a senator because he engaged in the exposure of racialism." He referred to the fact that Senator Wheeler's indictment was returned after he had led the senate investigation as committee "prosecutor" into the conduct of former Attorney General Daugherty.

Reciting that Senator Wheeler was charged with agreeing to accept a $10,000 fee from Gordon Campbell, Montana oil promoter, for representing his interests in obtaining government permits to drill for oil, Senator Borah said the witnesses before the committee had almost unanimously agreed that the senator's employment was as a lawyer to represent Campbell's interests before Montana courts in very extensive litigation.

There was "not a scintilla of evidence here that he ever received or agreed to receive compensation for practice before the government," the Meeting on Unification of Northern and Southern Bodies in First Special Session in History.

SPLIT OF CHURCHES
NOW 80 YEARS OLD

Formal Call Is Issued by Bishop Warren Candler. Place of Meeting Is Not Yet Decided.

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.

Nashville, Tenn., May 20.—After an all-day session, the college of bishops of the Methodist Episcopal church, south, decided tonight to call a special session of the general conference on July 2, the place to be determined by the committee on arrangements, to act upon the proposed unification of the northern and southern churches. The formal call was issued tonight by Bishop Warren A. Candler, senior member of the episcopacy. Because of the absence of Bishop S. H. C. Burgin, chairman of the entertainment committee in San Antonio, Texas, it is not known when the place of the special session will be decided.

Read Communications.

The day session of the college of bishops was spent in reading the communications from various sections of the south regarding the proposal for the general conference session and its bearing upon unification. A committee was appointed to go over these papers and tabulate them for further consideration at the night session. Tonight's action was taken in accordance with the instructions given the college of bishops by the last general conference at Hot Springs, Ark., instructing the bishops to call a general conference when the plan of unification as presented to the general conference of the northern church should be adopted by that body.

Springfield, Mo., was the first city to make a bid for the special session of the general conference, when Rev. John W. Pearson, pastor of St. Paul's Methodist church of that city, who is in Nashville, proposed that the conference be held in Springfield.

Wanted To Delay Session.

Opponents of unification, it is understood, preferred to delay the session until next spring, in order to give more time for discussion and for publication of opinions.

Women Are Given
Voice in Control
Of Presbyterians

Assembly Reaffirms Their Eligibility to Executive Committees.

San Antonio, Texas, May 20.—The voice of women in the councils of the Presbyterian church in the United States was strengthened today by the sixty-fourth general assembly of the church in reaffirming the eligibility of women to executive committees.

A fervor of oratory swept the assembly, brushing aside demands from nine presbyteries that women be removed from the committees, and a majority report on the committee of bills provided that hereafter no members be appointed on the committees who are not eligible to the assembly. A minority report was adopted.

The assembly chose Lexington, Ky., for the 1925 meeting place, the Kentucky city winning over Augusta, Virginia, by a close vote.

The assembly also voted to remain in the Federal Council of Churches of Christ of America.

Woman's Question.

These three important propositions held the stage throughout most of the day's deliberations, the woman question and the federal council both eliciting majority and minority reports and requiring extended debate.

Time honored scriptural precepts went down when the body decided not Continued on Page 2, Column 3.

SENATE REVERSAL OF COOLIDGE SEEN
AS BLOW TO G. O. P.

Democrats Are Disposed To Jeer at President and His Party for Action on Bonus.

BRAND HITS SPIRIT OF EXTRAVAGANCE

Attitude of Congress More Disturbing Than Passage of Bonus to Believers in Economy.

BY MARK SULLIVAN.

Washington, May 20.—(Special.)—Washington continues to discuss the political consequences of the senate's reversal of Coolidge. The democrats, while conceding respect to the president personally, are disposed to jeer at him and his party politically. They ask ironically what the Cleveland platform will do. Will it "point with pride" to the republican president who vetoed the bonus? Or will it "view with alarm" the republican congress that over-ruled the veto.

The democrats claim, and many republicans concede that most of the political liability and disadvantage of the episode will fall on the republicans. It is held to be now impossible for the republicans to make political capital out of the best issue they could have had, namely, government economy. Some democrats think that Coolidge personally, as the candidate for president, may profit by the episode; but that the republican senate and house is certain to be turned out of power. As against this, some other democrats claim that the country is in the mood for a more aggressive executive for a president who will really "crack the whip" over congress, and compel his party to follow his leadership.

Cleavage Causes Stir.

It is agreed on all sides that the cleavage between the republican president and the republicans in the senate is one of the most extraordinary situations in American politics. Doubtless the public thinks that a Washington correspondent should be able to explain this and give the reasons for it. Nevertheless, that is difficult to do.

Some of the senators who voted against Coolidge put the blame back on the late President Harding. They say that when the bonus first came up, and they counseled with Harding, Harding told them, that it was only necessary to "get by" for a few years.

DEAF, DUMB BOY
ENDS OWN LIFE

Worth Cochran, 19, Dies From Shot Fired by Own Hands—Life Worthless, He Said.

Union City, Ga., May 20.—(Special.)—After penning a note, stating that his life was not worth living, Worth Cochran, 19-year-old deaf and dumb youth of Union City, ended his life with a pistol shot through the temple about 6:30 o'clock tonight.

The fatal shot was fired as Cochran stood in the Hemperly garage here. Several customers were in the garage and as they turned, attracted by the shot, Cochran fell. He was dead when they reached him.

The note, which the boy gave to Charlie Reed Nixon, a former employer, and which Nixon was told not to read until after 7 o'clock, read as follows:

"My Dear Friend:

"I am well. Goodbye to you. Now I am ready. My life is not worth living. Your friend."

Nixon received the death-note, and shortly afterwards the report of the discharged gun was heard. The victim was for a time employed by the J. K. Orr Shoe company, of Atlanta, and later at Fort McPherson.

G. O. P. LEADERS
ARE DISCOURAGED
OVER PROSPECTS

Conferees Admit Inability To Reach Agreement at Conference as to Plan Promising Success.

WHITE HOUSE CAUCUS
FORCED BY SWANSON

Ranking Democrat on Foreign Relations Committee To Call Up World Court Plan in Senate.

BY RAYMOND CLAPPER.

Washington, May 20.—The world court plan appears to be dead so far as this session of congress is concerned. President Coolidge called in republican members of the foreign relations committee Tuesday night, but after a dinner conference lasting three and a half hours, it was announced that no decision had been reached either as to a plan upon which all republicans could unite, or as to forcing through some plan at this session.

"We are studying the best means of bringing about what the president recommended in his message," Senator Pepper, of Pennsylvania, said after the conference. "There was no decision of any kind. We just talked matters over."

Agreement Not Likely.

With only three weeks remaining until the scheduled date of adjournment, the prospect of any agreement being reached now is extremely remote. Senator Lodge is opposed to the Harding-Hughes plan, favored by Coolidge, and Coolidge does not like Lodge's substitute. Senator Pepper is understood to have prepared a compromise proposal, but there was no agreement regarding it at Tuesday night's conference.

Those present were Chairman Lodge and Senators Brandegee, Moses, Wadsworth, Pepper and Lenroot, all members of the foreign relations committee. Hiram Johnson, Borah, McCormick and Willis were absent.

Leaders Discouraged.

The treatment which President Coolidge has received at the hands of congress—some of it from his own alleged leaders there—undoubtedly has caused considerable discouragement at the white house. Yet the situation regarding the world court question is such that the president feels obliged to press his unwilling leaders as much as he can.

The white house conference was called suddenly after democrats disclosed they are about to force a showdown on this question, which has been sidestepped by the republican leadership in the senate since Harding plumped it down there in the spring of 1923.

Senator Swanson, of Virginia, democratic ranking member of the foreign relations committee, announced that on Wednesday he will call up the world court question on the floor of the senate. This move found republicans disorganized, and the white house conference was called at once

TANLAC OFFICIALS VISIT SOUTH AMERICA

Dr. Guy King and Chesley Vincent, of Atlanta, connected with International Proprietaries, Inc., will leave today for Buenos Aires, Argentina, where International has established a branch office and laboratory for handling Tanlac in that country. The South American branch was opened one year ago and has met with great success from the opening. Dr. King, who is general manager of the foreign department of this big Atlanta company, is preparing to enlarge operations so as to introduce Tanlac in several South American countries. He will remain in Buenos Aires for several months. Mr. Vincent, who has been connected with the newspaper service department of the Tanlac company, will remain in Argentina. Mr. Vincent is a Georgia boy, his home being in Fairmont. "At present we are operating three distinct units in the southern part of South America," said Dr. King. "We are under full steam in Argentina, Uruguay and Chile, and I expect to introduce Tanlac in other neighboring countries on this trip." "In the northern section of South America we are operating in Colombia, Venezuela and Panama. This, with our business in Mexico, Cuba, Porto Rico and the Dominican Republic, constitutes our foreign department." Atlanta Is Benefited. "Atlanta people will be surprised at the interest our company is creating among South Americans. As a direct result of our connections there I know of no less than a dozen South American boys who are going to come to Atlanta next year to enter college. These boys were intending to go to northern universities but we are telling them of climatic and other advantages of Atlanta and they are coming here instead. "The time is ripe now for American manufacturers to introduce their products in South America. England, France and Germany are beginning to again make a bid for this rich trade and unless we take immediate steps we are going to find them with a monopoly there. There are a score of Atlanta manufacturers who would find it profitable to extend their business into Argentina, Colombia and Venezuela immediately."

KLAN ACTIVITIES FEATURE EVIDENCE

Washington, May 20.—Charges of Ku Klux Klan activities in the election of Senator Mayfield, of Texas, particularly in reference to the use of money, occupied today the senate committee investigating the question. The use of Klan money in the 1922 election was denied by N. M. Furney, cashier of the imperial palace, and by J. E. McQuinn, auditor and assistant cashier, and was asserted by J. Q. Jett, of White Path, Ga., a former Klan employee.

The name of Representative Upshaw, democratic, Georgia, was brought into the hearings by Jett, who testified he had been employed by the Klan. The committee decided such testimony was irrelevant, and ordered it stricken out. Later Mr. Upshaw issued a statement declaring Jett was "misinformed." "It is absolutely without foundation," he said. "I was never employed by the Klan in any way whatever."

Both Furney and McQuinn were emphatic in their statements that no Klan money had been used, and Jett was equally positive that Imperial Wizard Evans had turned $25,000 over to Furney for use in the Mayfield campaign. This Furney denied. It was impossible for any Klan money to be used at any time for any purpose without his knowledge, Furney told the committee, and Chairman Spencer at once asked whether the Klan had expended any money in Texas directly or indirectly in the election of Senator Mayfield. Furney replied with an emphatic "no."

Jett Says All Grafted. Not only did Jett insist that Imperial Wizard Evans had given Furney money for use in the Mayfield election, but asserted the Klan "all the way down" was "stealing" Klan funds and that all employees were "grafting."

McQuinn was equally sweeping in his denial of expenditures of Klan money in the Mayfield campaign. Repeated appeals were made by Mayfield's counsel to restrict testimony to the election of Mayfield. Matters relating to the Mayfield election. Deputy Attorney General H. C. Spencer, counsel for Jett, continued to delve into the accounts of the Klan, and wound up the day by calling for Jett's records.

Efforts to get into the record a disclosure of the number of members of the Klan in Texas were frustrated by Mayfield's counsel, but Klan officials were permitted to testify there are "between" 150 and 175 Klan organizations in the state, and "maybe" more.

Klansmen Asked Outside.

During the examination of Jett, Klan officials who were to testify were required by the committee, on request of counsel for Jett, to leave the room. Several persons, whose names are known in connection with Klan matters, were identified by Jett, including John D. Maher, who was employed, the witness said, to shadow Jett. Jett said he was inquiring into Klan activities.

Activities of the Klan in the Mayfield campaign were inspired, Jett testified, by a desire to have a senator "who knew the Klan" and would be of value to it "from a propaganda standpoint."

To show interest the Klan was taking in the Mayfield election, Jett repeated a conversation he testified had occurred between Mrs. Elizabeth Trice and E. Y. Clarke, a Klan official, in which Clarke was quoted as having advised Mrs. Trice that she "could afford to give $100,000" to the campaign "for propaganda operation," as Texas seemed to be the only state where the Klan could elect a senator.

Grafted Big Amount Weekly. Although he received a salary of only $40 a week, the witness told the committee he was able to "graft" from $500 to $1,000 a week, explaining that money given him for propaganda work was in such liberal amounts as to permit this.

One of the reasons which had influenced the Klan in sending money into Texas, Jett stated, was to instruct the people there how to vote. Mayfield, he had been thought at first, he explained, that Mayfield's name could be stamped upon the ballots, but when the Klan decided, he said, that this should not be attempted, it was necessary to "educate" the people how to write in Mayfield's name.

GENERAL METHODIST CONFERENCE CALLED

maintained that the members of the general conference have already reached decisions on the matter, and that nothing could be gained by postponing the vote.

The date of the special session, it is believed, was adopted by a vote of 10 to 4, as Bishops Warren A. Candler, Collins Denny, U. V. W. Darlington and James E. Dickey later issued a statement voicing opposition to July 2 on the ground that so early a date would deprive the annual conference of their constitutional right to elect new delegates, if they prefer, to any special conference called by the bishops.

FIRST SPECIAL SESSION IN CONFERENCE HISTORY.

The meeting July 2 will be the first special session of the general conference ever called in its history, it was stated Tuesday by Rev. W. H. LaPrade, pastor of Wesley Memorial church. The conference meets every four years, its last meeting having been held at Hot Springs, Ark., three years ago.

The split between the northern and southern branches of the conference happened 80 years ago—in 1844—and resulted when the southern Methodists refused to agree to demands made by the northern wing that Bishop James O. Andrew, of Oxford, Ga., be forced to withdraw from the bishopric. Many efforts to effect a unification of the branches have failed, the last having been refused by the northern branch in May, 1920, in a meeting at Des Moines, Iowa.

Arguments leading up to the severing of relations between the branches resulted, it is claimed, from the fact that Bishop Andrew's wife inherited several slaves after her marriage, making Bishop Andrew a slave owner—the first in the bishopric. This northern branch, when Bishop Andrew refused to give up the slaves, asked that he be forced to withdraw from the bishopric, but the southern branch rallied to his defense, the break resulting.

May Accept Plan.

At the present time, appearances indicate that the plan offered by the northern branch and accepted by that wing at the conference now in session at Springfield, Mass., also will be accepted by the southern branch, as it is claimed that eight bishops of the southern branch favor the plan, with six, including Bishop Candler, it is reported, against it.

However, if the conference acts favorably on the plan at the meeting July 2, it will be at least one year before the plan can be put into practice. It must pass the general conference by a two-thirds majority, and then must be passed by a majority of three-fourths of the total votes cast at all of the annual conventions of member states of the southern branch. The plan, as drawn by Horace H. White, of Shreveport, La., is very short and simple, in contrast to the long, detailed plan refused by the northern branch in 1920. If the proposed plan is accepted by the southern branch, it is expected that many of the problems connected with the unification and not mentioned in the proposed plan will be settled by a joint meeting of the branches. Commissions of both branches have been working for many years in an attempt to find a plan to patch the rift, and the present plan is said to be the best ever submitted.

GREATER RESPONSIBILITY FOR LABOR IS URGED.

Springfield, Mass., May 20.—A larger share of labor in responsibility for the control of industry and the devotion of wealth created by society to the development of all the people were recommended in a report on industry and social service approved tonight by the Methodist general conference committee on the state of the church.

"Wealth accruing to the holders through monopoly or special privileges, or through large opportunities for costless saving," the report said, "is not earned. Wealth created by society should be devoted to the development of all the people in ways

FRENCH AVIATOR ABANDONS FLIGHT

Shanghai, May 20.—Captain Pelletier D'Oisy, who arrived yesterday from Canton on his flight from Paris to Japan, has announced definite abandonment of his attempt, owing to the damage which his airplane sustained in landing.

Captain D'Oisy said "the war department instructed me on leaving Paris to proceed as far as Hanoi, Indo China, then to go as far as I might desire with this airplane. Since the airplane is demolished beyond repair, I have decided to terminate the undertaking."

The flight, might, however, be delayed indefinitely awaiting a new airplane from Paris, or he may accept the use of a machine which General Ho Feng Liang, Chinese governor of Shanghai, is reported to have offered.

The reception to Captain D'Oisy at the French club was converted into a scene in which laughter mingled with commiseration. The French consul general, M. Wilden, and the officials openly wept with D'Oisy and his mechanic. The disaster is attributed to a bad choice of a landing place and its inadequate marking.

D'OISY CABLES PARIS

Paris, May 20.—The French air service received a dispatch from Captain Pelletier D'Oisy at Shanghai to day reading: "Crashed, landing in ditch. Machine entirely destroyed. No harm to us."

Laurence Eynac, under-secretary of state, immediately cabled to all the French agents in the Orient, giving instructions that everything possible be done to procure means for the aviator continuing his trip to Tokio.

ADVERSE CONDITIONS UPON LAST FLIGHT.

Minato, Japan, May 20.—The American aviators flying around the world overcame high adverse conditions today in completing their conquest of the air by flying from Yotoru Island, in the Kuriles, to this little town in northern Japan. Foggy weather, which at first seemed likely to prevent them from accomplishing the flight, later cleared somewhat. They took off somewhat later in the day than their flights usually have commenced, driving through to their objective.

The flight to this place, completing a passage of the Pacific by air, closed the last gap in man's aerial navigation around the world. Americans, British and Portuguese having flown over the Atlantic, British aviators having flown from England to Singapore and Indians having flown across southern Asia and up the China coast to Japan, while British and Japanese fliers have traversed the entire stretch of their own countries.

The arrival of the Americans came as a surprise to many, early reports that the weather was not suitable for flying having received general circulation among the inhabitants, all of whom have been in a state of high excitement over the notable event.

FEDERAL RESERVE OFFICIAL DIES

Minneapolis, May 20.—John H. Rich, chairman of the board of directors and agent of the ninth federal reserve bank, died here yesterday after an illness of nearly four months.

to be determined by the people themselves.

A prolonged controversy between opposing forces over the number of bishops to be maintained by the Methodist Episcopal general conference ended today in victory for the advocates of the status quo. As a result, the election of five bishops to fill existing vacancies was begun and the results of the first ballot will be announced tomorrow morning.

Create Five Bishops.

Last Saturday the delegates voted to create five new bishops. There were six vacancies, but the St. Louis and Wichita, Kan., areas had been merged into a new area centering in Kansas City, Mo. Yesterday the conference reconsidered, and a compromise of three new bishops was agreed upon.

The episcopacy committee forced as a result to eliminate two more areas, recommended this morning that Paris and Helena, Mont., residences should go.

Appeals from delegates in the areas affected moved the conference to adopt a substitute which retained Paris and Helena and thus reverse the committee's report.

A substitute motion to eliminate Buffalo and Pittsburg also elicited eager protest, and was finally lost, as was one to remove instead the areas at Manila and at Indianapolis.

The appointment by the board of bishops of a special committee to formulate the church's attitude toward war was approved, and will begin its meetings tonight.

DEPUTY IS SHOT IN BANDIT CHASE

Prairie Grove, Ark., May 20.—Charles Birchfield, deputy sheriff, is believed to be at the point of death at his home near Strickler, following a fight late today with robbers who yesterday held up and looted the First National bank, of Prairie Grove, escaping with $3,500.

Reports received earlier in the evening that Henry Miller, a farmer, was killed in the same fight are denied by a member of the posse who returned to his home late tonight.

According to reports received here, Birchfield and an 18-year-old boy were moving up a ravine when they discovered the robbers, who opened fire on them. Birchfield fell at the first volley, shot through the chest just above the heart. The boy was forced to leave the scene with the robbers, but was later released unharmed. It is believed here that the bandits are moving towards Stillwell, Okla., and that their avenue of escape will be cut off from that end.

Washington, May 20.—President Coolidge was gassed Tuesday. He took the chlorine gas treatment for colds invented by the chemical warfare service of the army.

The president's cold was broken Tuesday but traces of it hung on. He spent several hours at his office, presided at the cabinet meeting and received newspaper correspondents. At the suggestion of Secretary of War Weeks, Coolidge went to the war department dispensary and sat in a closed room for 45 minutes while the gas treatment was administered. He said he hoped the gas would cure him entirely.

It is the belief in police circles that the wayward son has met with foul play, or has left Atlanta for further adventure.

PROPOSED FREIGHT CHANGES SET FOR HEARING JUNE 10

Notice was sent out Tuesday by the Georgia public service commission that hearings will be held, beginning at 10 a. m., Tuesday, June 10, on a number of proposed changes and additions to the freight rate classification list in Georgia.

The following commodities are listed as those affected by proposed changes:

FARM RELIEF BILL DEBATED IN HOUSE

Washington, May 20.—The house formally took up today the McNary-Haugen farm relief bill with debate limited to 15 hours.

Those in charge of the measure, admitting that the result probably will be close, said they hoped to reach a vote by Saturday.

Chairman Haugen of the agriculture committee, joint author of the bill, aided by Representatives Tinch, of Kansas, a republican member of the committee, and Rube, of Missouri, a democratic member, planned to direct the fight in behalf of the bill. The opposition will be directed by Representatives Voigt, republican, Wisconsin; Aswell, democrat, Louisiana; and Kincheloe, democrat, Kentucky, all committee members.

Vote Probable Saturday.

Those in charge of the measure, admitting that the result probably will be close, said they hoped to reach a vote by Saturday.

Chairman Haugen, of the agriculture committee, joint author of the bill, aided by Representatives Tinch, of Kansas, a republican member of the committee, and Rube, of Missouri, a democratic member, planned to direct the fight in behalf of the bill. The opposition will be directed by Representatives Voigt, republican, Wisconsin; Aswell, democrat, Louisiana; and Kincheloe, democrat, Kentucky, all committee members.

Preceding general debate the house spent an hour discussing whether the measure should be given the right of way. Mr. Kincheloe declared other farm relief proposals also should be taken up, and urged that an opportunity be given to discuss the so-called "Yokum" plan, offered by Representative Aswell, and providing for cooperative marketing systems. Mr. Aswell asserted the "scheme" was to make members think they must "either vote for this (McNary-Haugen) or no other farm relief proposal." He added he could not support a measure with such "wild" theories.

Declaring the bill to be "of emergency character," Mr. Tinch charged that much propaganda had been issued against it. He said he wished to deny newspaper stories portraying the measure as either a "socialistic or bolshevik" proposal.

Trusts Are Assailed.
Representative Schall, republican, Minnesota, asserted that "trusts" have been setting prices "right and left" and it would be a "strange thing" if the farmer cannot "even get the protection of the tariff he is entitled to in comparison with other basic industries."

Opening debate, Mr. Haugen gave an exhaustive review of the measure's proposals, while opposition to the bill was voiced by Representative Linthicum, democrat, Maryland, who several times interrupted the debate to make a point of no quorum. A substitute for the bill, which he declared would "only hasten and intensify the impending calamity," was proposed by Representative Rainey, democrat, Illinois.

Buck Deer Wrecks Auto in Collision In Berlin Suburb

Berlin, May 20.—Blinded by the glare of the headlights of a motor car proceeding along a highway in a forest on the outskirts of Berlin this morning, a buck deer ran head-on into the car and caused an accident in which the chauffeur was killed and the car owner and his wife were seriously injured.

The deer's horns became entangled in the steering gear, causing the chauffeur to lose control. The car dashed into a ditch, killing instantly the chauffeur and the animal which had caused the accident. The car owner and his wife were rescued from the wreckage by passing motorists several hours later.

FARM LOAN BOARD FACES HOT FIRE

Washington, May 20.—The fight against the nomination of members of the federal farm loan board by the late President Harding was renewed today by Senator Howell, republican, Nebraska, this time in the senate after the nominations had been favorably reported by the banking committee.

Entering charges involving the conduct of the board and declaring the question had arisen as to whether the "senate could afford to put its stamp of approval on the methods" of administration adopted by the board, the Nebraska senator was met with the assertion by Senator Glass, democrat, Virginia, a member of the committee, that the nominations had been approved after a complete hearing.

Recess Appointments.
The nominees—Lewis J. Pettijohn, of Kansas; Elmer S. Landes, of Ohio; Martin L. Corey, of Nebraska; and Edward E. Jones, of Pennsylvania—were given recess appointments a year ago and their names were sent to the senate last December by President Coolidge.

Senator Howell charged there had been "a violation of a cardinal principle of public policy" which should be assessed against the board in the matter of the appointment of Charles E. Lobdell, its former chairman, to the post of fiscal agent at a salary of $25,000 a year. "The senate," he declared to be "unlawful procedure in the creation of a new official."

Many Charges Made.
Other charges included:
"Looseness and gross misconduct of affairs in the board, indicating incompetence," and evidenced by the lack of books of account.
"Unlawful withdrawal and expenditures of public funds to the extent of $85,000 to $75,000."
"Looseness and neglect in disbursement of public funds; no receipts or vouchers being kept."
"Misapplication of public funds, including presents to employees and advances and loans."
Senator Glass declared the committee had been "entirely satisfied there had been no looseness in the handling of public funds," and protested against the matter being brought into the open senate.

HAS "SEEN LIGHT," SAYS VAN GUNTEN

Washington, May 20.—George H. Van Gunten, of Newark, N. J., under cross-examination this afternoon by Charles A. Douglas, attorney for John L. Phillips of Georgia, at the trial of Phillips and others on charges of conspiracy in surplus government lumber sales, said he had considered legitimate the arrangement he had testified he had with George M. Chambers as to the division of a "bonus" collected on lumber sales. Later he declared, he had "seen the light" and entertained a different view.

Chambers, a government inspector, has died since the filing of the indictment in which he was named as one of the alleged conspirators. Van Gunten had testified earlier he had paid a total of $15,000 to Chambers as representing three-fourths of the profits made on the two contracts with the government. Chambers, he testified, had told him he had to divide with John L. Phillips.

Douglas drew from the witness that his viewpoint changed when he was summoned before the grand jury in the lumber inquiry. Asked by counsel if he had ever been indicted in connection with his part in the alleged illegal transactions the witness responded "not that I have heard of."

Van Gunten was followed by Morris Rachlin, of Newark, who is connected with the Union and Franklin Lumber company. He told of making a contract for lumber which had been called to his attention by the previous witness. The contract price was $18 per thousand but the witness said he arranged to pay $2 additional per thousand to Van Gunten. He declared he was paying Van Gunten for getting the lumber for him and for the services of Van Gunten in expediting delivery. All payments were made by check, he said.

THAW ARRAIGNED ON OLD CHARGES

New York, May 20.—Harry K. Thaw returned to New York city today after an absence of 7 1/2 years. Within 20 minutes after he had stepped from a train in Pennsylvania station, he had been arraigned and had pleaded not guilty to two indictments, charging assault in the second degree, and kidnapping Frederick Gump, Jr., in 1916.

Bail for the two indictments was fixed at $10,000 and Thaw was released.

After he had gone to the office of his attorney, he was recalled to court for arraignment on a third indictment, which had been recovered from the court's files. This indictment charged Thaw with a conspiracy to kidnap Gump, then 16 years old, out of the jurisdiction of the court after the alleged attack.

Pleads Not Guilty.
Returning to the criminal court's building, Thaw also pleaded not guilty to this charge. He was released in the custody of his counsel until tomorrow, when his bail is to be adjusted to include the conspiracy indictment.

Thaw had planned to return to Pittsburgh tonight, but after being paroled, he arranged to remain here overnight.

When he stepped from his train, accompanied by one of his attorneys and a hired man companion, who was with him constantly, he was served with two bench warrants by a detective from the district attorney's office. He had successfully evaded these warrants for 7 1/2 years.

Poses for Photographers.
After his arraignment, Thaw posed for newspaper cameramen for 15 minutes. When reporters questioned him, he refused to answer, but took from his pocket several copies of a typewritten statement, in which he criticized alienists who testified against him at the recent trial in Philadelphia, in which a jury found he was sane.

There were indications today that Gump, who since has married and moved to California, would not come here to testify against Thaw. Without him as a complainant, it would be impossible to place the defendant on trial.

Thaw, according to one of his attorneys, will return to Pittsburgh for the funeral on Friday of his brother, Edward Thaw, who died in Pasadena, Calif.

$150,000,000 NEEDED TO BOLSTER U. S. NAVY

Washington, May 20.—At least $150,000,000 must be expended if the American navy is to equal Great Britain's in strength, the house was told today by Chairman Butler, of the naval committee.

Before the close of the present session, he said, action will be sought on a bill designed to establish, so far as the United States is concerned, the 5-5-3 arms conference ratio.

Mr. Butler declared the present actual comparative strength of the navies of Great Britain, the United States and Japan is five, a fraction over four, and three. Construction of eight fast cruisers, to be completed by 1930 at an estimated cost of $15-

000,000 each, and six gunboats to be used in Chinese waters, conversion of six battleships from coal to oil burners and their reconditioning in other respects, and increased elevation of guns on 13 battleships will be proposed to strengthen the navy.

Ridiculing statements that the American navy is weaker than Great Britain's and Japan's, Representative French, republican, Idaho, in charge of the naval appropriation bill, which was before the house, declared that "all factors considered," the 5-5-3 ratio has been maintained. He said there was propaganda to bring about construction of additional craft.

The United States, Mr. French contended, has greater submarine strength than Great Britain and Japan combined. Representative Oliver, democrat, Alabama, declared the American destroyer strength to be greater than either of the other two nations, although the cruiser strength of both, he declared, that of the United States.

Members of Constitution's Tour Warmly Greeted

Upper photograph shows a delegation of citizens of Bluffton, headed by the mayor and other town officials, welcoming the first division of The Constitution's Florida fishing tour.

Lower picture shows the same party being welcomed by citizens of Blakely, Ga. A committee of Blakely ladies served punch and sandwiches to members of the party. At many other points along the route to Panama City large delegations of citizens and city and county officials met The Constitution's party.

Photographs were made by Tracy Mathewson, Constitution staff photographer, who accompanied the party.

Panama City, May 20.—(Special.) A happy crowd of sunburned fishermen, members of The Constitution's tour topped off a full day's fishing tonight with a succulent chowder supper as the guests of the neighboring city, St. Andrew's.

It was a fitting conclusion to a glorious day, for the fish which had provided so much sport during the earlier hours proved just as appealing when served hot by the Florida culinary experts.

The tourists are looking forward with keen anticipation to Wednesday's program which includes a trip by steamer to Millville and a sail around St. Andrew's bay and out into the Gulf of Mexico in a fishing schooner.

Atlantans will be the guests of Panama City on this trip which will include a fish fry served on the boat. As the Izak Walton from Georgia become more accustomed to the deceiving ways of the fishy inhabitants of these waters the results grow more disastrous for the latter.

Proof of Claims.
Many parties returned to their hotels tonight with red and smiling faces and with the actual proof to back up their tall stories. A gamey fish of the mackerel tribe, named the blue runner, is providing much of the sport and not a few of the Atlantans came home with catches running well over a hundred. The blue runner is caught trolling from a motor launch, hits the hook like a streak of greased lightning and puts up a game struggle.

Royally Entertained.

The chowder supper at which St. Andrew's entertained the tourists tonight was a delightful affair served in the city park, under huge water oaks, from which hung long draperies of Spanish moss. A group of children welcomed the Atlantans with songs, one of which had been composed especially for the occasion.

Mayor J. L. Tinkham voiced an official welcome and gave a brief description of the marvelous progress made by Bay county within the past few years. Arthur Codrington, who was asked to express the appreciation of the visitors, did so with a few sincere words.

The hungry fishermen then "fell kindergarten of loiterers and gamblers."

A letter was received Tuesday at police headquarters from the Mothers' club of the school, located in Joyner park between Plum street and State street, stating that gamblers and drinkers were loitering about the property of the school creating considerable disturbance. Several attempts have been made by residents of the community to relieve the situation but have all been unsuccessful, it was stated.

LETTER IN HARRIS CASE BRANDED 'FORGERY'

New York, May 20.—Two handwriting experts today branded as a forgery a letter filed by Mrs. Eleanor Elaine Lee Harris with a motion for an appeal of the annulment suit won two months ago by her husband, Beverly D. Harris.

Testifying at a hearing of forgery charges brought by Mr. Harris against his former wife, the experts, Aaron H. Lewis and Albert S. Osborne, agreed that the letter, alleged to have been written by Harris to a "Mrs. Holland," was a clever piece of penmanship, which at first glance appeared genuine.

Mr. Lewis last month was so sure of the authenticity of the letter that he gave Mrs. Harris an affidavit proclaiming it genuine. Later, he said, he changed his mind, and now believes the note the work of forgery experts.

Mr. Osborne declared that when Mrs. Harris first asked him for an opinion on the letter, saying that she wished to be sure about it before taking action to appeal the annulment suit, he told her it "had the general appearance of Harris' handwriting." After closer examination, however, he proclaimed it a forgery, he said.

Magistrate Oberwager stated he wished to ask Mr. Harris further questions and the case was adjourned until May 27.

The Men Who Serve You Whom You Do Not See

Ticket sellers, gatemen, conductors, dining car stewards, waiters and porters are about the only employees of a railroad with whom you ever come in contact; yet, in the operation of a great transportation system, almost every trade and profession is represented.

In order to maintain the high standard of safety, comfort and satisfactory freight and passenger service which has long distinguished the Louisville & Nashville Railroad, more than 52,000 men and women each day perform some special and definite task.

Approximately 300 executives direct the operation of various departments; 7,000 clerks handle the mass of detail, records, figures, etc.; 12,400 track workers guard the safety of passengers; 18,800 mechanics and helpers keep the equipment in repair; while 2,000 brakemen and flagmen, 5,000 dispatchers, agents, and others, 1,000 conductors, 8,400 engineers and firemen complete the list of active workers. To this number, must be added construction engineers, lawyers, doctors, agricultural agents and other specialists—all of whom contribute to the sum total of successful railroad operation.

Remember that one out of every fifteen bread winners in the Nation is employed in the transportation industry, and that these employees are good citizens—an asset to any community.

Read What This Famous Scientist Says about Coffee

Professor SAMUEL C. PRESCOTT, of Massachusetts Institute of Technology, after three years' scientific research, says Coffee gives comfort and inspiration and is the servant of civilization

"It MAY be stated that after weighing the evidence, a dispassionate evaluation of the data so comprehensively surveyed has led to no alarming conclusions that Coffee is an injurious beverage for the great majority of adults, but, on the contrary, that the history of human experience, as well as the results of scientific experimentation, point to the fact that Coffee is a beverage which, properly prepared and rightly used, gives comfort and inspiration, augments mental and physical activity, and may be regarded as the servant rather than the destroyer of civilization."

This statement, coming from such an unquestioned scientific authority, will be a source of satisfaction and relief to every true lover of Coffee and establishes the fact that Coffee is a wholesome drink for the overwhelming majority of adults.

BOBBY JONES LEADS IN FIELD IN GA.-ALA. TOURNEY

Dave Spittal of Savannah Is Low Scorer Among Pros In First Day's Competition

BY KENNETH SAPP.

Coming back strong in the afternoon round with a score only one stroke over par, Bobby Jones, American champion, Tuesday shot a 146 and led the field at the end of the first 36 holes of the Georgia-Alabama Professional Golfers' association tournament being played on the Druid Hills Golf club course. Dave Spittal, of Savannah, followed Jones with a 149, and headed the professionals in the first day's play.

Following Spittal came Harry Duff, Macon pro, with a 150, and the next three high professionals and four amateurs, including all who would be in line for prizes, were Dan Goss, Birmingham professional, with 153; Albert Jones, West End pro, with 156; Charlie Hall, long-driving Birmingham professional, with 158; Fraser Hale, of the Georgia Tech team, and R. F. Jones, Atlanta amateur, with scores of 159 each, and Charlie Spille and Cy Strickler, Atlanta amateurs, both with 165.

The driving duel between Bobby Jones and Charlie Hall, who were paired, furnished a big share of the day's thrills, and by far the largest gallery followed these stars. Spittal, not rated so highly by the spectators, came through with two fine rounds, turning in cards of 74 and 74.

Amateurs Fare Poorly. Outside of Jones, the amateurs fared badly, which is fitting and proper in a professional tournament. Atlanta pros also had a tough day, and Albert Jones was the only one of the home guard who figured in the money circle.

The amateur low scorer will receive a medal, the next three low amateurs will get golf balls. The professional purse will be divided among the five low scorers in the pro ranks. Jones was easily the big attraction of the day's play. He finished the morning round in a tie for second place, a stroke behind the leading Spittal, but came back in the afternoon with a fine exhibition that gave him low score for the day, three strokes ahead of the leading professional.

In his afternoon round, Jones played 15 holes in par, with a beautiful birdie three on the seventh, and his other two holes one stroke over par. Several times short putts cost him a chance to break par. He was working on the blind side of par in his morning round, and had to fight hard for a 76, but things were different in the afternoon, as he played par golf all the way.

Hall Leads in Driving. Hall furnished plenty of competition for Bobby in the driving line. The drives of both averaged in the neighborhood of 250 yards. Hall made a couple of drives that will probably stand as the longest of the entire tourney. He uncorked a 305-yard smash on the eleventh hole in the afternoon, 20 yards farther than Jones' wonderful shot. On the 14th in the same round, he got away for a perfect 275-yard smash, one of the longest ever made on that particular hole.

Bobby's uncanny approach shots account for the difference in scores, although hardly up to his standard and he had a slight edge in the putting.

YOUNG STRIBLING TAKES DECISION OVER DAN O'DOWD

Boston Boxer's Clinching Tactics Keep Georgia Flash From Landing Kayo Wallop

BY GEORGE CONGDON.

The wise old head of Dan O'Dowd, conqueror of Bartley Madden, Al Reich, and a dozen other stars of the ring, failed last night at the auditorium-armory to keep W. L. Stribling, the Georgia flash, from a referee's decision, but it did keep Stribling from giving something like 6,000 fans of Atlanta and a score of other cities anything like their money's worth of boxing.

The fight, scheduled for ten rounds, went the limit, but the limit was not reached before the crowd that jammed the auditorium was booted the tricks of the Boston "strong boy," now years past the boy stage, which gave Stribling only about three opportunities to open up and show his wares. In two of these instances Stribling cut loose with terrific rights and lefts, hooks and swings. One of these haymakers caught O'Dowd on the jaw in the seventh and he went down, but was up quick and the one flash of color in the whole fight was over.

O'Dowd made no effort until the ninth and tenth rounds to cut at Stribling. He was on the defensive, apparently afraid to take advantage of openings. He acted as though he were afraid of the result of a counter blow. He used that battered head of his all through the fight to prevent a knockout or even a technical knockout. He laid for a decision for Stribling and he seemed satisfied when Stribling took it.

Strib Gives Openings.
Time after time Stribling gave O'Dowd the opportunity to crash into him. O'Dowd stepped heavily forward in each case, his guard close in, inviting Stribling to try to break it down. Instead of pushing the going himself.

Stribling gave his crowd several demonstrations of his monkey tactics that have caused a sensation among the scribers of the east. Crashing his glove straight at his opponent's body, and landing heavily, the Georgia boy would dance back a step or two. Straight up in the air at least three feet he would jump, his arms beating the air in a flail-like fashion. The demonstration caused little enthusiasm.

While O'Dowd absolutely stopped Stribling's chances for making the bout a real boxing contest, Stribling would have pleased his crowd in some measure by taking the time he wasted in monkey shins in to ring into the O'Dowd party. However, he omitted the comedy, he probably would have rushed back into one of those clinches which were so numerous that the whole big-by-blow deal reads like the ending of an Elton Glyn novel.

O'Dowd Dodges Pious.
When Stribling did open up his heavy artillery, he found that O'Dowd was not what he seemed. O'Dowd would be several times O'Dowd, while appearing to pad about the arena with the clumsiness of an elephant, staged a score of escapes from connecting with some of Stribling's punches that had all the earmarks of carrying a knockout.

O'Dowd gave the people at the auditorium some pretty good reasons for his record in the ring by his tactics in holding Stribling to clinching. However, at the same time, he gave simple reasons why he has not taken a championship. He has the resistance, the tricks and the brains to hold down a fast fighter, but he is lacking altogether in the push and crushing power of a title-getter.

Outside of the two attacks Stribling made in trying to work out of the clinches the Boston fighter, or staller, forced, Stribling was busy with his foot-work. Beyond those two attacks he might have been playing with a sparring partner.

The crowd was yelling for a knockout as soon as it had sized up O'Dowd for what he is. The demand for the full count started in the second round. By the third round the demand became so insistent that it turned into an uproar. Stribling would have had it if O'Dowd had lost his head for a moment for Stribling to connect with one of his deadly swings. But O'Dowd was weathered many a storm and he clinched he forced and his dodging saved him time after time.

Stribling weighed 164 1/2 pounds, while O'Dowd was announced as 170.

McGowan Gets Decision.
Billy McGowan, Stribling's sparring partner, had his first real tryout last night in the semi-windup and won a doubtful decision over Harry Krohn, the Akron, Ohio, chopping block, who looked grayer even when he entered the ring. McGowan took seven rounds in succession, but when Krohn opened up in the eighth he almost sent the Georgia youth sprawling several times.

In the eighth, ninth and tenth rounds, Krohn came back stronger and stronger and worked on McGowan for a dozen hard smashes with both left and right. McGowan was nearing the groggy stage himself when the tenth round ended. By virtue of taking the majority of rounds McGowan took a decision from Referee Eddie Hanlon, who officiated throughout the card. It was fortunate for McGowan, however, that he ended when it did.

In the second preliminary fans were given a slugging match between Boots Ansley, of Columbus, and Jordan Sheppard, of Macon, that ended with a decision for Sheppard. It might easily have been called a draw.

Baby Starts Show.
Baby Stribling started the card in four rounds with Mutt Coffin, another Macon product, who held the Baby to a draw. Baby looked better than ever. He is a strong, young man with the training that W. L. has had should do about the same thing his bigger brother has accomplished.

The card last night initiated a new boxing ring which probably will be used in all future entertainments of the boxing variety at the Auditorium. It is all metal and was made on the order of "Pa" Stribling, especially for the fight last night. With all of O'Dowd's clinching tricks and lack of convincing punch it was a rather poor initiation.

Government agents from the Internal revenue office, policemen and regular appointees of the boxing commission kept splendid order at all gates and as a result the crowd which saw the fight was handled without a complaint.

STIBLING-O'DOWD FIGHT BY ROUNDS

The Stribling-O'Dowd fight by rounds:

Round One.
They danced in the center. O'Dowd led with a left high on the head. Stribling danced back, then led with a light left to the stomach. Stribling looked his right to the ribs as they clinched. Neither man showed any disposition to mix it. They were sparring at the bell.

Round Two.
Stribling fenced his left to the jaw, following with two short rights to the ear. They clinched, both working with lefts on the kidneys. O'Dowd led several lefts but failed to touch. Stribling lifted a right to the cheek as they clinched. O'Dowd put a weak left to the head. They traded left taps in the clinch and were sparring out of range at the bell.

Round Three.
The Georgia boy came in fast at the bell and scored lefts to body and head without return. Stribling put a light left to O'Dowd's jaw and they clinched. Both fighters were following every blow into a clinch and the crowd began to boo the batters.

O'Dowd led with a left, Stribling countered with left and right to the jaw. Stribling landed light left and right to the head. Stribling jabbed three straight lefts to the face without return, and O'Dowd was driven out to the ropes. O'Dowd seemed bewildered. Stribling turned him with a light left to the body and crossed a right tap to the head. O'Dowd fenced his way into three clinches. Stribling got over a short left to the ribs at the bell.

Round Four.
The crowd yelled for action as the fighters came out, and the batters immediately went into a clinch. They traded left lefts to head and body. Stribling led for the face, then missed right and left to the jaw coming in. Stribling missed a haymaker at the bell.

Round Five.

Round Six.
The crowd booed its displeasure

EFFORT MADE TO TIE UP BOUT MONEY

Court action to tie up the receipts of the Stribling-O'Dowd bout was taken last night by Eric E. Nelson, who claims to be a partner with Holt Gwiner in the Southern Athletic club, promoting last night's card, when he obtained a temporary injunction, signed by Judge E. D. Thomas, of Fulton superior court, on a suit to obtain $100 as damages.

The injunction was served on Gwiner, Robert Troy, an employee of the Southern Athletic club; Chess Lagomarsino, who handled sale of fight tickets in Atlanta; Richmond Paul, another agent in sale of tickets, and W. L. ("Pa") Stribling. These men, named as defendants, according to A. E. Wilson, attorney for Gwiner, had possession of only a small percentage of the receipts when the injunction was served.

Hearing on the plea of Nelson for a judgment against the defendants was set for May 24. Nelson's attorneys are Dorsey, Brewster, Howell and Heyman.

Nelson charges in his petition that he and Gwiner organized the Southern Athletic club to promote four Stribling fights in Atlanta during 1924, and that he has been frozen out of a share in the Stribling-O'Dowd fight. Nelson, at the auditorium last night, said that the grounds on which he is asking $10,000 damages are that he has never received $2,500 which he announced several months ago as the price at which he had sold out his interest in the Southern Athletic club to Gwiner.

CHARITY BOXING SHOW TO BE HELD JUNE THIRD

Los Angeles, May 20.—The date for the charity boxing benefit here at which Jack Dempsey, champion heavyweight boxer, will appear against two opponents, has been set for June 3, it was announced yesterday.

Stomach, Stribling missed two uppercuts with his right. They clinched. Stribling came in just before the bell scoring two sharp rights and a left to the head.

Round Ten.
The fans pleaded for a single round of action and the men in the ring clinched. O'Dowd led a sharp left to the face. Stribling followed the next clinch with a rush that carried O'Dowd to the ropes and into another clinch. Stribling tried with left and right but was blocked. They clinched again. Stribling pushed O'Dowd's head back with a left in the clinch. O'Dowd clinched again and the gong stopped it.

Chattanooga Club Comes From Behind 3-Run Lead; Game Is Full of Errors

NIEHOFF IN ATLANTA, TEAM IN BARON CITY.

Birmingham, Ala., May 20.—(Special).—A last-minute change in plans brought the Crackers here tonight to spend their off day, before starting a three-game series with the Birmingham Barons, on Thursday.

Joe Niehoff failed to accompany the squad, having been called to Atlanta on business, but will join the club Thursday morning. Although Niehoff failed to state his reasons for returning to Atlanta, it is believed that he has gone to consult P. J. Michael over the second-base problem.

The showing of Hillis, who has been substituting for his boss, has been anything but satisfactory and with Niehoff out for a month or maybe longer, the Crackers will be seriously handicapped.

The Cracker boss has asked waivers on himself but the three-day limit will not expire until Wednesday at midnight. If he is not claimed there will be room on the squad for another infielder. It is believed that a man to play the keystone will be secured within the next day or so.

Chattanooga, Tenn., May 20.—(Special).—Coming from behind a three-run lead twice and then forging ahead to stay there, Chattanooga won from Atlanta this afternoon one of those games that have to occur once in a while, by a score of 9 to 6. The game was full of bases on balls, three and two by the pitchers, scratch hits, lengthy drives and everything that makes a game last long. Two hours and a half were required to complete the hostilities and the entire gamut of baseball possibilities was run.

Encouraging features for the home clan were four hits in the pinch by Nunamaker, every one driving in a run, a home run by Johnny Bates inside the park, a pinch triple by Wingfield and the refusal of the team to quit under fire. Hillis was robbed of a triple by Cunningham, with a man on base.

Sedgewick pitched a fair game in spite of his untiredness, and with airtight support would have kept the score down. McLaughlin was wild in the extreme and it looked like he kept him in a little too long, until he filled the bases with passes in the fifth.

Niehaus and Schwartz were both porous and the Cracker fielding was something fierce, in contrast with the fast play of the previous day. McCabe got his second home run in two days, also inside the park.

Sedgewick passed Zoellers to start and Frankie piffled. He scored on Paschal's blow to center. Paschal also stole and then Burrows was passed. Paschal went to third by a daring run on Smith's fly to Anderson. John being caught, unawares.

Krehmeyer's hit to center scored two. The fifth was the deciding inning. One gone, McLaughlin walked J. Anderson.

erson Nunamaker and Koval. Niehaus went in. Cunningham hit to Smith, who forced Nunamaker at second. With an easy double play to retire the side, Hillis flung wild past first, Anderson and Nunamaker scoring. Cunningham scored on Wingfield's screaming triple to right center field.

In the sixth, Bates hit and took second on Niehaus' wild heave to catch him napping. J. Andy singled to left, scoring Bates and took third when the throw escaped Zoellers. Nunamaker's third pinch blow counted J. Anderson.

Fortune broke against the Crackers in the eighth. Haworth started it with a blow and scenting a chance to win, Niehoff sent in Francis to run for him. Brock hit for Niehaus and John Andy handled his fierce liner to left very neatly. Zoellers hit a hot one to Massey for a ready-made double play in the last half.

Niehaus was safe on Krehmeyer's wild peg. J. Andy walked and Nunamaker's fourth pinch lick past first scored Niehaus. Fast fielding by Zoellers cut the drive to a single and saved another run.

Finally, in contrast with the advice "to keep your comments down to the level of the sidewalk," is this last:

The Last Straw.
As if we didn't have troubles enough, here comes one we had considered a real friend, and sends us a cross-word puzzle book.

From a distance we had held that same attitude of superiority towards any kind of puzzle which is recommended to us literally in one of the quotations above.

But when this blue book with its bright yellow cover came into our hands, our attitude was changed by the fact of possession, as happens to anybody.

If a thing is ours, that in itself gives it value in our eyes.

We stood off a bit, though.

We looked at it as a kitten looks at its first mouse.

We were afraid of it, even while it fascinated us.

Then we thought about the friend who had sent it—one who had never done us an injury—heretofore, anyway.

"We'll have to look it over to write a letter of thanks," we muttered to ourselves anxiously.

Then desperately, "Oh, well, do it now."

So we started on the first puzzle, which is explained in the book. The first has a pony, in fact.

"Why, this isn't hard," was our resolution. And then when we had worked it out, we found that the pony was a rabbit. (Of course, that was a man, or in this civilized day it would not have called it a wrapper.) Look on that picture, and then on this:

Finally, in contrast with the advice "to keep your comments down to the level of the sidewalk," is this last:

"If I were in your place I should develop the column along lines calculated to make people think, even in spite of themselves; for even the slowest mind enjoys the sensation of having an idea develop. The owner may not know what's happened to him, but the novelty of an impulse to think is pleasant."

The Last Straw.
As if we didn't have troubles enough, here comes one we had considered a real friend, and sends us a cross-word puzzle book.

From a distance we had held that same attitude of superiority towards any kind of puzzle which is recommended to us literally in one of the quotations above.

But when this blue book with its bright yellow cover came into our hands, our attitude was changed by the fact of possession, as happens to anybody.

If a thing is ours, that in itself gives it value in our eyes.

We stood off a bit, though.

We looked at it as a kitten looks at its first mouse.

We were afraid of it, even while it fascinated us.

Then we thought about the friend who had sent it—one who had never done us an injury—heretofore, anyway.

"We'll have to look it over to write a letter of thanks," we muttered to ourselves anxiously.

Then desperately, "Oh, well, do it now."

So we started on the first puzzle, which is explained in the book. The first has a pony, in fact.

"Why, this isn't hard," was our re-

War to the Knife.

"Geoff, darling, I'm home!" announced Suzanne as she hurried into the library. "It was a good play, but I'm so glad to get back. Did you finish your work?"

"Oh—yes," he answered, as if his mind had been taken up with things other than the work that was supposed to have kept him at home. "Where's Leland?"

"He went back to his club," said he was going to get to bed early, she answered, tossing off her wrap and sitting down on the arm of his chair. She had resolved that she would not let him know that she had seen Mrs. Vale bury up the steps as she herself drove away. She would not force his confidence. He had said that he would give it to her when he was ready, and she would be content, no matter how hard it was to wait.

"It's going to be time soon to open the house in the country," she went on, looking at her watch. "I'm eager to go all through it; I've barely seen it, remember. Couldn't we drive out there tomorrow, Geoff? Surely you aren't going to work on Sunday?"

"That's a good idea," he exclaimed, so enthusiastically that she was surprised. "We might take luncheon along with us, and spend the afternoon going over the grounds. The house must be ready early this year; we'll have to do a good deal of entertaining, and it's so near town that we can have people there instead of here." Then, turning to her suddenly, "Suzanne, do you like this life—having a lot of guests, and all that sort of thing?"

"Why, I like it, yes," she replied slowly. "But I'd always rather just be with you, Geoff."

"But when we were married it was a man with a future that you married, not just a—well, a private citizen," he reminded her. "Don't you recall a talk you and I had, not long after we met, when you told me that my career interested me more than I did?"

"Oh, Geoff!" she exclaimed with a laugh. "I'd almost forgotten that. Why, I barely knew you then. And you seemed so awfully important to me, so famous, that I was determined to make you notice me. All my aunt's guests were rushing around after you, everyone in town wanted to meet you, and girls who were next-door neighbors to me were taking all your time. I wanted to make you think about me, even if it was only for a moment or two."

"Well, you succeeded," he told her, smiling.

Consider the House Organ

THE reception accorded your salesman is all too often negative, to say the least. He warms the mourner's bench of various offices till the seat of his trousers grows shiny, and his enthusiasm fades away like a summer's dream.

Then, like as not, after he is finally admitted he gets the cold and glassy stare of some self-styled important personage who joyfully hands him the "Vermont turnaround."

Or there are a thousand and one reasons why he may never be admitted: "Conference," "regrets," "busy," "not in," "call again," etc., ad infinitum.

Heartbreaking, isn't it?

But there's one way to always reach the innermost secluded sanctums of the high moguls of business.

It's through the medium of the house organ, sent out each month representing your firm.

Let it be snappy, full of "pep" articles, always reflecting the personality of your organization, and, above all, dresy and attractive. Make it so good and wholesome they'll be watching for it every month.

When it calls, if the big boy is out on the golf course, it's waiting on his desk when he returns—and it warns no benches during long winded conferences.

It's on the job, waiting for that moment of relaxation when his mood is receptive.

No fresh office kid tears up its card, and no gum chewing stenographer blocks its entrance to the big boss.

And it creates a friendly feeling for your organization which paves the way for bigger, more cordial business relations.

We build house organs, plan 'em, design 'em and write 'em. Let's talk it over—we'll be glad to explain our methods.

They are not garments that were bought haphazard simply to make a sale. They represent the season-end clearance of one of our regular sources of supply—a manufacturer well known for the high standards that he maintains. For this reason we pass them on to you gladly, knowing full well that you'll be more than delighted with them.

There are about a thousand garments in this special lot. The season was growing late for the manufacturer—he must clear them out! In order to do so at one stroke he made big price concessions—almost unbelievable ones—provided we would take them all. We took them and they are here. That accounts for the sale today.

While the season was growing late for the maker of these garments, it is just exactly right for you who will wear them. The sale could not have been timed more opportunely. And so while in a sense we did him a favor in taking them off his hands, we did you a much greater one by securing them for you at a price like this.

Bear in mind that there is quality of our usual high standard in every garment offered in this genuine feast of rare values.

Mrs. Chauncey Smith Writes Article On Southern Art

Mrs. Chauncey Smith, one of the most cultured, intellectual and charming women identified with Atlanta's social and literary circles, who possesses great journalistic ability, contributed to the woman's department of The Constitution Tuesday morning, a very interesting and worthwhile article under the caption of "The South as an Early American Art Center."

Her article was most appropriate as it appeared at a time when Atlanta is enjoying the marvelous art exhibition at the Biltmore, staged by the Grand Central Art Galleries of New York.

Mrs. Smith brought out the fact that one of the very earliest art centers in America was here in the south, and told of some of these famous treasures which are still to be found in South Carolina, Virginia and Georgia. The descendants of the English colonists of these southern states crossed the Atlantic to have their portraits painted and returned with these canvases to their homes in the south.

Mrs. Smith believes that the exhibit from the Grand Central Art galleries now on display at the Biltmore will be the inspiration of future annual exhibits in Atlanta, and will be the means of setting a high standard in educational and civic life in the south.

As a great lover and student of art, she is eminently qualified to write upon the subject. She is endowed with thorough knowledge and a perfect understanding of her theme, and has had personal contact with the paintings she treated in her article. The famous galleries of Europe and America are familiar fields to Mrs. Smith, for she has traveled widely in her own country and has spent several years abroad.

In "The South as an Early Art Center," she told of the many influences brought to bear in shaping the artistic development in early American art in the south, and wrote of those artists who were noted for portrait paintings and exquisite miniature work, giving an interesting history of the work accomplished by southern artists, many of whose descendants reside in Atlanta.

Mrs. Smith is a member of the National Arts club of New York where the elite of the art and literary world foregather to discuss artistic valuations.

First Atlanta Visiting Nurse Is Now New York Church Leader

BY MRS. MCCORD ROBERTS.

If art "is the beautiful way of doing things" as the great Hoyerfoster declared it, then Lucy Kenan is an artist, for she spends her life doing things in a beautiful way and with truly artistic appreciation of values she has chosen the mission work in New York, conducted by the Church of the Transfiguration, better known as the Little Church Around the Corner, for its setting.

A while ago the Kenans lived in Milledgeville, and there Miss Kenan's mother alone. From Milledgeville Dr. Thomas H. Kenan, her father, came to Atlanta and for many years was to those in pain and suffering what his daughter is now to those in pain and suffering. Perhaps the beauty of comforting was borne in upon little Lucy before voluntary thought had flowered, perhaps a passion for giving help was a heritage from father and mother. For it is said by her even in childhood she played at helping others and through her school years strove steadily to perfect herself in giving. That she should become a trained nurse was a foregone conclusion—for in no other work in the world has a woman so wide a field for bringing succor of pain.

First in Atlanta.

As a visiting nurse carrying on the contest against the terrible plague before the Anti-Tuberculosis association had become great, in the days only a short time back as the world counts time, when concerted action to check the disease was only beginning, Lucy Kenan was the angel of good tidings in hundreds of Atlanta homes where pain and poverty made life a horror.

It was she who began the exterminatory struggle now carried on in Atlanta against this disease and likely no woman in this city has done more individually to aid weak and suffering people. It was through her work as the first visiting nurse specifically seeking to check the spread of tuberculosis that a few public-spirited citizens were led to support an organization since become the great bulwark against this dread ailment.

After that work was established she went to New York to study in great hospitals in order to do more for those who suffer.

Enters Church Work.

That she should become an integral part of the good work carried on by the Little Church Around the Corner was a logical development because of the broad kindness, the all-embracing humanity for which that church has become a synonym. Miss Kenan is here in Atlanta for a few days and when she talks it is all of the kindly work inaugurated by the late Dr. Houghton, and being continued under the direction of Dean Ray. This church has been revered for so long by the theatrical world it is not surprising that it sponsors an Episcopal Actors' guild, with headquarters in the church house. Tea is served here every Sunday afternoon for members of the guild, and Sunday after Sunday a large group of delightful people, entirely minus their stage trappings, gather around the dean and his staff, of which Miss Kenan is a cherished member. A lovely flower garden beside the church seems entirely in keeping with the traditions that have been built up regarding it, for the garden is named "the bride's garden," and even the fact that for 50 years the church has made the giving of lilies an important part of its helpfulness fits in with its benignity. But surprise does come to one when Miss Kenan talks of the church's clinic for Italian babies, at which she helps, of the choir school, where voices are given the best of training, and the work carried on among negroes under the rectory's guidance. Soon after Miss Kenan begins to talk knowledge grows of the good influence this church exerts, for Miss Kenan's thoughts are absorbed in plans for doing good through this beautiful medium.

That despite busy days devoted to Christian service and the high place she holds in the esteem of New York church workers, she never fails to slip away each year for a brief visit to her southland is a source of gratification to her many friends in Atlanta. During her visit here this time a constant round of informal entertaining has marked her presence.

Miss Montgomery and Wallace Montgomery will entertain the members of the bridal party on June 16.

Proctor-Vickery Wedding Is Event Of Social Interest

Unusual interest centers in the announcement of the marriage of Miss Frances Edna Proctor and John Olin Vickery, manager of the Oliver hotel, which took place at 6:30 o'clock on Saturday, May 17, in the parlors of Mrs. H. H. Hale at the Oliver hotel. Dr. Charles W. Daniel, pastor of the First Baptist church, performed the ceremony in a most impressive manner.

A short musical number, by Miss Louise Madden, preceded the entrance of the bride and groom who entered while the pianist played, "At Twilight," and continuing the number throughout the ritual program. The parlors were most attractively arranged for the occasion with a blending collection of the season's flowers. The bride has been connected with institutional work for several years in the high schools of Mississippi and Oklahoma, and at present is a member of the Bass High school faculty of Atlanta and is an educator of note. She is the representative of a prominent family in Hopkinsville, Ky., and her marriage will come as a surprise to her many friends and relatives, as there had been no announcement of an engagement.

Mr. Vickery was reared in Bowman, Elbert county, Georgia. He has been actively associated with the city's leading hotel management, having operated the Imperial hotel here for a number of years, releasing his interest prior to entering First Central's training school. He served throughout the duration of the world war as lieutenant. At the present time he is operating the Oliver hotel as general manager, and the couple will be at home there to their many friends.

Miss Bowen is an active member of the International Relations club, secretary of the College Y. W. C. A. book store, and president of the Nature Study club. She is a member of the debating council, and was honored by being chosen on the debating team, contesting with Agnes Scott and Sophie Newcomb in the annual triangular debate in March. In college she specialized in biology.

Miss Bowen is the daughter of Mrs. Bowen and the late L. S. Bowen, well-known Georgia manufacturer who was vice president of Crystal Springs Bleaching company, Chickamauga, Ga. She has many friends throughout the state who will be interested in her signal honor.

Marist Cadet Corps Leaves For Military Encampment

The Marist cadet corps, consisting of three companies and a band, embarked Saturday morning for its annual military encampment in barracks at Fort McPherson, at the state rifle range on the Campbell road. Once a year, towards the middle of May, classes are suspended at the Peachtree and Ivy institution and the entire student body with members of the faculty go on this encampment. The camp has been named Camp Gunn, in honor of the late Bishop John E. Gunn, founder of the institution and its first president. Each afternoon at 3 o'clock the camp is open to visitors. At this hour, parents, patrons of the school and friends of the cadets are welcome to visit the camp.

A feature this year will be the military hop this evening at 9 o'clock, in the camp barracks. The entire arrangements for this affair are in the hands of the Marist freshmen class, headed by a committee of five cadets: Robert Martin, Clive Dudley, Addison Smith, James Harvey and Lee Hutcheson.

British India Cooking Features Menu at Curry Tiffin Kedei

A dinner where every article served exemplified British-Indian cooking opened the Curry Tiffin Kedei shop at the corner of Peachtree and Twelfth streets last evening. Savory oriental dishes, strange, but attractive to the large group of invited guests, lent an atmosphere of distant lands to this little shop in the heart of Atlanta.

The unusual decorations, brought from oriental lands, in which brown and yellow predominated, lent an interesting background to the gathering of Atlanta and Decatur people who were the guests of the management on the opening occasion.

Mr. and Mrs. H. Palmer have reproduced inside the old southern home on Peachtree street the atmosphere and effect of a typical British home in India and the service and viands lent verisimilitude to the suggestion contained in the furnishings and hangings.

Among the guests at the opening dinner last evening were:

College Set To Enjoy

house in Piedmont park at 9 o'clock. Mr. Browne asks that students for both classes be prompt.
